"THE SOLARIUM ON THE ROOF OF A CITY HOUSE"

Through the generosity of Mr. Francis H. Lenyon the sum of $100.00 will be awarded in one or two prizes at the discretion of the jury for this competition.

In a city house a sun parlor is to be built on the roof, the dimensions of which are 35 feet long, 18 feet wide and 11 feet high. There are to be windows on one long side and one end, these being east and south respectively. These windows may be designed in any way to suit the proposed decoration of the room, the only stipulation being that there shall be a sill at a height of 3 feet.

On the north end a provision is to be made for a mantelpiece. The main entrance door is in the center of the west wall. There is also to be another door in this wall leading to the pantry which is situated in the northwest corner.

The room will be used primarily as the family breakfast room, but the idea is to decorate and furnish it so that it may be used for general purposes. No stipulation is made as to the medium to be used, but it is suggested that one of the following methods be adopted:

1. A combination of tile work with plaster walls above the tile dado.
2. A combination of marble and plaster, marble or tile floor with decorative plaster walls, or painted decoration.
3. Travertine or any other patent stone medium.

JURY OF AWARDS: Francis H. Lenyon, John L. Northam, Louis Schmitt, Henry R. Sedgwick, T. Atkins Tout, Whitney Warren.

NUMBER OF DRAWINGS SUBMITTED: 12.

CLASS "B"—ELEMENTS VI

At a scale of  $\frac{1}{2}$ " representing 1' 0", arrange on an Imperial sheet of Whatman paper a selection of decorative details suitable for such a room as is described in the program, Class "B" project VI, 1925-1926.

1. A mantelpiece in marble, stone or other tile work.
2. A design for the tiled floor.
3. A design for the doorway.
4. A tile or marble treatment for the walls.
5. Design of a window with a light sash curtain treatment.

"A SMALL LIBRARY"

The modern small library has developed into an educational and artistic, as well as a literary center for the community which it serves. In addition to the circulating library and the reading rooms, it now offers educational lectures, historical moving pictures under the supervision of the important universities, and local and travelling exhibits of art.

This problem is to design such a building. The site is a level lot with a frontage of 200 feet on the village square and a depth not to exceed 200 feet. The requirements on the ground floor are as follows:

1. The Library is to have a large room with space for 10,000 books, a delivery counter, adults' reading space and children's reading space. Usually all the books are disposed around the walls and in free standing shelves not over 4½ feet high, which divide the room into the subdivisions asked for, so that the librarian at the delivery counter can supervise the entire room.

There is also to be provided an entrance lobby, a librarian's private office and toilet, a work room for inspection and repair of books, and stairs to the basement.

2. The Auditorium is to seat 200 people and is to have a small stage, a picture booth, and a separate entrance.

3. The Exhibition Hall is to be about 1,500 square feet in area and is to have good wall space for pictures, and a separate entrance.

The newspaper reading room and public toilets are to be in the basement.

CLASS "B" V ANALYTIQUE "A PALLADIAN WINDOW"

A Palladian window is a triple motif, the larger and central opening covered by an arch, the smaller side openings covered by a lintel or a flat arch.

This problem is the design of such a window which forms the principal motif of the end pavilion of a library building and is to be placed on the second or principal story. If desired, a balcony may be introduced to give the motif more importance. The width of the pavilion is 40 feet.

REGISTRATION FEE EXEMPTION IN CLASS "A"*Effective from Season 1926-1927

The Trustees of the Beaux-Arts Institute of Design, at a recent meeting, passed a resolution that any student of the Department of Architecture in Class "A" would be exempt from paying five dollars of the registration fee provided he had acquired on medal awards, five values in Class "A" Projet competitions. The balance of the registration fee, or $2.50, the subscription to the Bulletin, must be paid and the usual registration blank submitted.

In taking this action the Trustees believe it will serve as an inducement to older students, especially in the ateliers, to do occasionally a projet in Class "A," and as an additional incentive to any student to strive for higher awards.

One first medal and one second medal, or three second medals acquired by a student in a previous season, would entitle him to this exemption in the current season.

THE OLD ACADEMY FAIRFIELD, CONN.

(Descriptive article accompanying Measured Drawing by R. Everett, Jr., illustrated on page twenty-seven.)

There stands on the Post Road in Fairfield a building, once a stately academy for boys, opened some time in the last half of the eighteenth century. Its semi-public nature was expressed by the designer in its façade by introducing a pediment over the central bays; and by adding a cupola or lantern, gave the building the necessary severity and dignity. "The Old Academy" is still intact, only the cupola has been replaced.

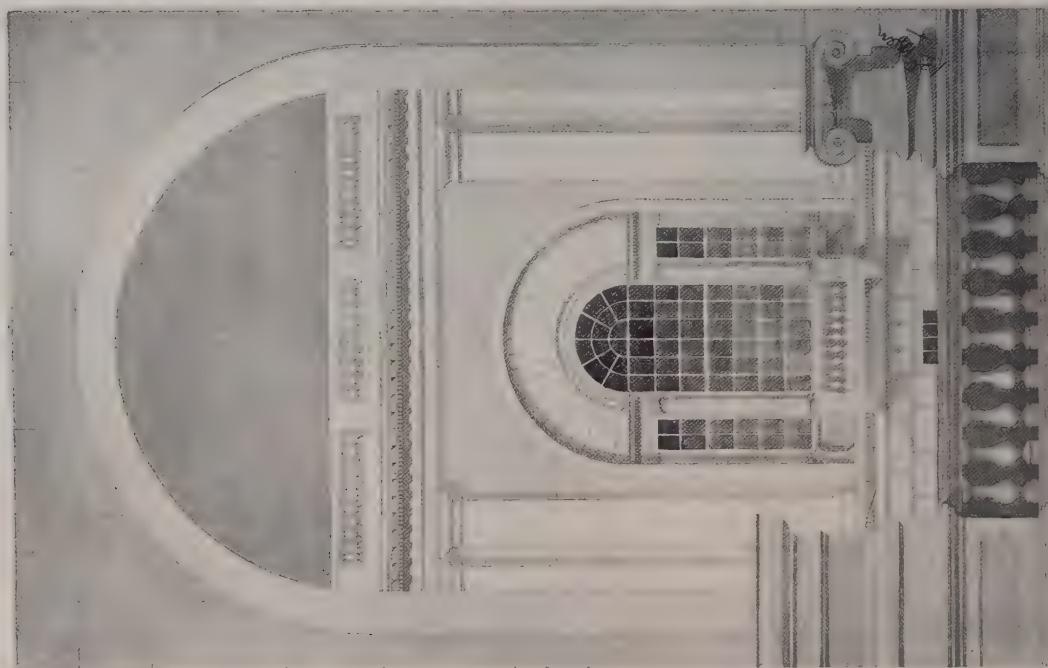

The pediment over the five central bays causes a projection of five or six inches from the main wall. The particular charm of the building, however, is in the flush boards used in the gables and pediment, which contrast with the other walls. The general ensemble of the cupola, the pediment, and the three doorways is very interesting.
